Army Airplane Makes Bad Landing and is Burned

LIEUT. SKOW, PILOT OF AIR CRAFT, SUFFERS FROM MACHINE'S STRIKING GROUND ABRUPTLY.

Sgt. Ingram Only Scratched—Neither Badly Injured—Ship Strikes Trees and Lands On Hillside.

The army airplane which this afternoon made the trip from Lexington to Maysville to assist in army recruiting, was burned and the two men in the ship were slightly injured when it made its landing at the Anderson farm about 1:45 o'clock.

The machine made a fine trip all the way from Lexington meeting with no sort of accident or trouble and made a fine flight over the city before locating the landing field at the Anderson farm. Lieutenant Skow, of Camp Knox, piloting the plane sighted the field well and made a fine swing over it getting well located for his landing. On his second swing over the field at which time he proposed to alight, his machine would not respond to the throttle and the tail was dragged through a tree top and thrown to the ground. The machine had no sooner struck than a gasoline tank exploded. Lieutenant Skow and Sergeant Ingram, who he had carried with him from Lexington as a passenger jumped from the ship as soon as the explosion hit. Lieutenant Skow was badly singed about the head. He also seemed exhausted and seemed to be suffering internally from the sudden crash of the machine to the ground. Sergeant Ingram was uninjured but for scratches on the arm and a sickness from the crash, which was not so serious as the pilot.

Lieutenant McMurray, of the Aviation field at Camp Knox, who is in charge of the Kentucky flights, and Major Gannon, of Lexington, in charge of recruiting in Kentucky, took Lieutenant Skow in the army machine, which had carried the recruiting officers overland from Lexington this morning and rushed him to Maysville for medical attention.

The machine, which is a total loss, is a Curtiss J. N. 6 commonly known as an Observation machine and came over to Lexington from Camp Knox on Wednesday afternoon on its way to Maysville, the first city made in a series where recruiting is to be carried on during the summer months.

The party coming overland in an army automobile arrived at the landing field about 1 o'clock with gasoline and Mechanic Sergeant McKelvey, who has been in charge of the motor on the plane used and who came over to Lexington from Camp Knox yesterday afternoon.

As soon as the plane landed and the officers had gotten out, Lieut. Skow ran from the ship up the hillside and warned everyone to keep back from the ship as it contained several large tanks of gas which would explode in a very short time. He had just shouted this warning when he fell to the ground. Dr. J. H. Hutchings, who was near by, went to him and he was taken to the shade where he soon recovered and he was then rushed to Maysville. Word from him at the hotel this afternoon at 3 o'clock was that he was not at all badly injured suffering only from an internal sickness and a lisp on the head which he received when the plane struck the trees.

There was quite a crowd of people at the landing field and a great many came just as soon as the plane came in sight over the city. Maysville folks enjoyed the flight over the city. It was a fine flight well made and Lieut. Skow deserves credit for a fine exhibition. Had there been no accident at the landing Maysville and Mason county folks would have seen many stunts over the city during the next two days. Major Gannon late this afternoon said he was very sorry indeed of the accident as he had planned to give the people of this section some splendid demonstrations of what an airship could do.

There will be a member of the party left in Maysville for the balance of the week for recruiting purposes. His headquarters will be in the Chamber of Commerce building and all young men interested in any of the branches of the army may call on him there. While recruits for all branches of the service will be accepted the officers are especially endeavoring to enlist recruits for the air service.

JUDGE COCHRAN MADE DOCTOR OF LAWS BY OLD CENTRE COLLEGE

Centre College, Danville, Honors Two of Maysville's Most Distinguished Citizens By Confering on Them High Honorary Degree.

Judge A. M. J. Cochran, of this city, Judge of the Federal Court for the Eastern District of Kentucky, was highly honored this week at Danville by the Directors of Centre College, his Alma Mater, when that school conferred on him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws (LL. D.).

Judge Cochran delivered one of the addresses for the Alumni Association at the Centennial Celebration which has been in progress there for the past week. It was a very strong address and will be published by the college in the immediate future.

Dr. John Barbour, pastor of the Maysville Presbyterian Church was also honored by the Centre College when the degree of Doctor of Literature (Litt. D.) was conferred on him at the same time.

The Centennial Celebration held at Danville was one of the greatest celebrations old Centre has ever had. During the week many of her sons who have become famed in the world in their various activities visited the school and enjoyed the splendid programs arranged by the faculty and trustees. The week has been one big week of festivities and many Maysville people were in attendance at some time during the big celebration.

LAVELLE SAYS CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM IS STRONG ONE.

William G. Lavelle, of the Colt-Alber Chautauqua Bureau, who is in Maysville today to deliver the annual Commencement Address this evening, says that the Chautauqua program selected for the Maysville Chautauqua this year is a very strong one and that the people of the Maysville district will have one of the strongest chautauquas in the entire section.

GREAT CROWD ATTENDS COLORED COMMENCEMENT DANCE.

There was a great crowd of colored people here on Wednesday night to attend the big Commencement ball given at the Liberty Tobacco Warehouse. Colored folks were here from all over the section and as far as Lexington and Covington. It was a very orderly crowd and they had one great big time.

COUNTRY PEOPLE SEE ARMY AIRSHIP.

The people throughout the county were notified by telephone of the coming this morning of the army airplane from Lexington on its recruiting trip and they all kept a look out for it and had the experience of seeing a real airship in air. It was really a big experience.

STEMMERY OPENS THIS MORNING.

The big Reynolds Tobacco Company's redrying plant in Forest avenue opened in full blast on Thursday morning with quite a number of local people finding employment. Wages are good and the plant will probably operate all during the summer as there is much tobacco to be stemmed there this year.

GRADE TEACHERS AT WORK ON EXAM. PAPERS.

The grade teachers in the city will put in a very hard day's work today at grading the examination papers handed in by the students. The grades have now finished their final and the teachers will be able to announce the results on Friday morning when the students re-assemble.

Although the Aberdeen-Maysville ferry has not started its regular night trips over the river, the management is bringing across all automobiles which arrive in Aberdeen after the regular trips and before daylight.

Rev. John Barbour returned from Danville last night. Rev. Dr. John B. Worrall of Attawa, Ohio, returned with him and will address the prayer meeting at seven o'clock tonight. The meeting will close in time for the School Commencement.

Lieut. James R. Thurman and wife of Anderson, Ind., are visiting relatives in the city and county. They were accompanied by Miss Dorothy Bradley, who will spend the summer here with relatives.

The Summer School will open Monday at the High School Building for a six weeks' term.

YOUNG MEN WANTED FOR Y. M. C. A. WORK

Physical Directors For the Y. M. C. A. Are Needed Chamber of Commerce Secretary is Informed.

The Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of a communication from C. A. Tevobagh, Associate State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in which he states: "The Y. M. C. A. is on the lookout for keen young fellows who would make good physical directors in our local associations. We have several openings in the state now. Do you know any returned soldiers in your community who were active in college athletics or city Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium before the war who desire to enter Christian work and would probably consider a place as physical director in one of our associations? If you know any such young man kindly talk with him and let me know the result of your interview."

Any person knowing of a soldier that is capable of occupying such a position should suggest that they see Secretary Dadds and get further information.

YOUR $1

What did you get for your dollar when you bought a hunting license? You helped pay J. Quincy $2,500 per year. You helped catch fish in the Ohio to take to Central Kentucky. You helped make the dove law so that you can't shoot 'em until September 1st. Most of them are in the hemp fields by that time. J. Quincy and his crowd get the shooting. J. Quincy says we don't want to shoot 'em so badly as they do. J. Quincy seems to think he pulled off "some stunt."

Let's all cut out the license for one or two years. The farmer don't need a license to hunt on his own land. The fellow with no land can't shoot targets. J. Quincy don't need your money.

Let's cut out the license.
J. A. SIMPSON.
P. S.—Has J. Quincy done anything to increase the amount of game?

OVERCOME BY HEAT

Mr. Edward Huron, employee of the C. & O. railroad company, was overcome by the heat while at work in the C. & O. yards at the local station at building ear scales on Wednesday afternoon. He was removed to his home and is reported as somewhat better today.

Lavelle, celebrated lecturer, will deliver the class address. Reserve seats tickets on sale at the Standard Drug Co. Prices 35c and 45c.

STATE NATIONAL'S BUILDING SUGGESTED AS COMMUNITY HOUSE

Number of Business Men Suggest That Building Now Occupied by the State National Bank Would Make Ideal Community House.

It was suggested today by a number of prominent local business men that the building soon to be vacated by the State National Bank would make an ideal Community House for Mason county folks. It is pointed out that this building could, by a very little expense, be made into a fine home for the Maysville Chamber of Commerce, the Mason County Woman's Club, the Mason County Soldiers and Sailors Association and an ideal reading and game room for the young men of the community—a sort of club house in honor of the Mason county soldiers and sailors.

The one big problem which has always faced the various Mason County Memorial committees on a Community House idea is the maintenance and being at the head of the thing, the problem of maintenance would be solved for the Chamber of Commerce could handle this matter well.

There could be no more ideal place selected. It is in the very center of the city. The first floor would be an ideal Chamber of Commerce office and the second and third floors would make ideal club rooms and meeting rooms for the various Women's Clubs and Soldiers and Sailors organizations. The Community House idea seems to be the most popular idea yet suggested as a memorial to the soldiers and it is more than likely that the State National building suggestion made by a number of our prominent business men will be thrashed out carefully and completely.

Come out to the Commencement Exercises Thursday evening. In addition to the Class Exercises, William G. Lavelle, celebrated lecturer of the Colt-Alber Bureau will deliver the Class Address. Reserve seats on sale at Standard Drug Co. Prices 35c and 45c.

Miss Margaret Smith and Mr. Edwin Parker of State University, Lexington, attended the Commencement dance Monday night.

"Y" OFFICERS HIGHLY COMPLIMENT ROY COCHRAN

Maysville Man in Overseas Y. M. C. A. Work Is Highly Complimented by Officers of International Committee.

One of our prominent citizens has just received from the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Associations the following letter highly complimenting Roy Cochran, Maysville man who has just returned from Ireland where he was in the service for many months.

Mr. John McE. Cochran of 20 West Third street, Maysville, has returned from overseas after nine months of work with the Y. M. C. A. He has been Business Secretary for Tenth Area in Ireland during his term of service. We wish his friends to know how greatly we appreciate what he has done for the soldiers, through this Association.

You were one of his references when he went overseas and you will, I am sure, be glad to know that he has justified your confidence in him.

Yours very sincerely,
CARLOS H. STONE.

GOOD CROWD AT MINERVA MEETING

These same gentlemen will go back to Minerva next week, the exact date to be announced later, when a Community Club will be organized. There will be a speaker from Lexington to address the audience.

GEORGE DODSON HAS RESIGNED AS MEMBER OF CITY COUNCIL

Prominent Young Connelman Resigns And Is Elected to the City Board of Education From Sixth Ward.

Mr. George Dodson, member of the City Council from the Third Ward, today handed his resignation to Mayor Thomas M. Russell as a member of the City Council to take effect immediately.

Mr. Dodson recently moved from the Third Ward to the Sixth Ward of the city and realizing his worth to a legislative body, the members of the City Board of Education on Wednesday evening elected him to fill a vacancy on the board caused by the resignation of Mr. William Groppenbacher, of the Sixth Ward.

In the resigning of Dodson from the City Council, that body is losing one of its most progressive young members. During his connection with the present administration, Councilman Dodson has supported every progressive move for the advancement of the city's welfare and has been the leader in many such moves. He has been unusually useful to the city during the past two months in drawing up the Gas and Electricity contract, he being chairman of the Light Committee of Council, which this year has been one of the most important of all the committees.

Special interest will now be taken to the selection of Mr. Dodson's successor in Council. He will be elected at the next meeting of that body. It is usually customary for the remaining member in the ward to recommend and nominate his colleague and all eyes will be turned to Councilman Ross Owens for this nomination.

Colonel C. L. Tanian of Vanceburg, while in Maysville this morning announced that the date for the Lewis County Fair this year would be August 13-16.

Come to the High School Thursday evening and hear William G. Lavelle deliver the class address. Reserve seat tickets on sale at the Standard Drug Co. Prices 35c and 45c.

OUR POLICY

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the County as a whole.

THE MIRACLE OF CHILDRE

The wonder, aye the miracle of children, our own children, seldom impress us because this is a busy little world, and pork chops are 50 cents a pound these days.

And baby's shoes cost more than mother's did four years ago. But sometimes the worthy parent will catch a gleam in his offspring's eye, a quirkish twist to the neither lip; a glint, a high light, a sudden flash, and he knows that there's a bit of light that never was on land or sea.

Before we stamp, rather stomp, on the soft wax of childhood the hard impression of mortality, before we channel the seas of infancy, and drive them between the cliffs of iron convention, there are sweeps, and surgings, and whispers of infinity there that we barely hear the murmur of, but that just be very, very vivid to the child.

What strangers are these that come in a night to our door, and abide with us through the years, and go out to a man's work, and yet are never wholly of us?

Children, souls in a mould of flesh, visitors from eternity, stopping with accidental hosts for a season!

Aye the miracle of it occasionally hits us hard, and for the moment we vaguely glimpse the mightiness of eternal life, wrapped in its little round dimpled bale of mortality.

And then baby opens his mouth a yard and bellows for his bottle, and we get busy and forget all about his ethereal qualities.

But be sure that our children bear in the veins, as in their heart of hearts, as much alien blood and alien thought, that far outreaches the parent's brief span of life and experience, as the bit of a spotted pig, in the otherwise white litter, proves that in him is reversion to distant great, great grand-daddy, who was a big, black, brute of a wild fellow.

As well boast of having comprehended the thought of eternity, world without end, amen; as pride yourself on knowing your eldest.

VOTE YES ON THE GOOD

ROADS TAX QUESTION

Saturday, June 14th, there will be a special election in Maysville and Mason county to authorize a levy of 20 cents on the $100 for good road purposes.

The annual income from the levy for road purposes is not sufficient to maintain the 320 miles of turnpike in Mason county and rebuild annually the worn-out sections. It will be necessary to provide additional money for road purposes by special levy. If this is not done Mason county will forfeit for three years the money that is to be appropriated by the state amounting to over $48,000 a year.

Nobody pays taxes willingly. A man will waste in a day "having a bully time" more money than his taxes amount to in a year without the slightest hesitation and with no feelings of regret and he will get red in the face and consumer hours of valuable time talking against a proposition to increase his taxes a few dollars a few dollars in order to pay for a highly necessary public improvement.

Anything that is good for one class of citizens is good for all. When landowners and merchants and manufacturers are busy there is work for labor and market for the products of farm and garden and stockpen.

Progress and good roads go hand in hand. The one big difference between Mason county and some of the less fortunate counties in Kentucky is that it is possible for a man to travel over the roads of Mason county during all seasons of the year, whether he ride in oxcart or auto.

Vote "YES" on the road tax question and have a road system that all can be proud of.

ON GUARD!

(Manufacturers' Record)

A Philadelphia boy, 12 years of age, brought recently to the public school which he attends a circular signed "Anarchist," urging soldiers, sailors and workers to break into jail and free the Red prisoners. The circular as reprinted by the paper to whom the teacher sent it, and thus a matter which he attends a circular signed brought only incidentally to the attention of the public.

In New York City there is being formed an organization under the name of the Soldiers, Sailors and Marines' Protective Association, with a Red as Secretary and having headquarters at the Rand School of Social Science.

These are signs of the times. They indicate very strongly the necessity for greater alertness on the part of educators, public men and business organizations throughout the country in order that certain dangers may be avoided and our national institutions not further endangered.

They call for the thoughtful consideration of every discharged soldier who is invited to join any association whatever or to express his opinion on national questions.

It is well to know who and what such an organization is designed to protect.

The average American soldier is able quickly to discriminate between protection and exploitation. We are inclined to think that this new so-called "Protective Association," with its Red Secretary, is likely to assume more the character of a society for personal profit and self-aggrandizement than that of an organization to benefit the soldier in any way whatsoever. In any event, it has not mark of patriotism about it.

If the motive is to capitalize the discontent and disgruntled state of mind of an occasional discharged soldier, the association is a vicious thing and should be done away with. If in any way the purpose is to make industrial conditions less stable than they now are or to increase the state of unrest already existing, or spread abroad half-baked economic or unpatriotic

STOMACH TROUBLE

Mr. Marion Holcomb, of Nancy, Ky., says: "For quite a long while I suffered with stomach trouble. I would have pains and a heavy feeling after my meals, a most disagreeable taste in my mouth. If I ate anything with butter, oil or grease, I would spit it up. I began to have regular sick headache. I had used pills and tablets, but after a course of these, I would be constipated. It just seemed to tear my stomach all up. I found they were no good at all for my trouble. I heard political theories, then the character of the association should be thoroughly looked into, and at once.

What the country needs now, and what it must have, is sanity and clear thinking. The theorist and opportunist can wait. The present is not a convenient season for the inauguration of additional propaganda of unrest or disorder, and it is devoutly to be hoped that the sober thought of the nation will be alive to the danger of permitting any such tendencies in that direction to go unchallenged.

MARRY A PRINCE!

NO! SAYS COUNTESS

When it comes to marrying a German prince, the average Belgian woman may be pardoned if she protests. But when Celeste, countess of Bersek and Krymn, refused to become a member of the family of a Hun prince as his wife, her protests were unavailing until she literally took the bit in her own teeth and escaped from her native country in search of happiness and freedom in the United States.

This is the basis of the story of "Out of a Clear Sky," the new Paramount photoplay starring Marguerite Clark which will be shown at the Washington Theater tonight. It serves to provide Miss Clark with one of the most likable roles in which she has been seen on the screen in many months. The photoplay has much enjoyable comedy and there are numerous dramatic moments that grip and hold the attention of the audience.

Miss Clark is supported by exceptionally clever players, her leading man being Thomas Meighan. The picture is based upon the novel by Maria Thompson Davies and it was capably directed by Marshall Neilan.

MANY KENTUCKY MEN HAVE BEEN WOUNDED

Over 3,000 Men From This State Were Wounded in the World War—Mason Has 31 Wounded Stripes.

The list of men from Kentucky who have been wounded is not yet complete. The Kentucky Council of Defense, through its State Historian, and county historians in each county, has been compiling from the United States Official Bulletin, and from newspaper reports and other sources, a list of the wounded.

It is hoped that this list will be complete within a few months. Lists of wounded are still being published by the War Department. The Kentucky list now contains over 3,000 names.

As far as compiled, this list shows some very interesting figures:

In many of the counties there are more deaths shown than wounds. This is probably due to the fact that many men died from disease in camps in this country, as well as overseas, during the influenza epidemic.

The latest figures published by the War Department show that 203,758 American soldiers were wounded, and that 85 per cent. of them returned to duty.

Among the larger counties the wounded are as follows:

Campbell county	87
Carter county	54
Fayette county	45
Kenton county	144
Jefferson county	302
Hopkins county	55
Johnson county	45
Pike county	70
Pulaski county	56
Warren county	26
Whitley county	66
Mason county	31

WALT WHITMAN'S CAREER IN FIELD OF JOURNALISM

In connection with the centenary this year of the birth of Walt Whitman there is little left unsaid concerning the greatness of the American poet and his influence upon American literature.

His verse is being discussed, not his work in journalism. Yet Whitman spent a large part of his life in newspaper work, and that the freer, more amazing part.

New Yorkers are apt to forget that the great ones of their literature were often the great ones of their newspapers, say Walt Whitman's friends. William Cullen Bryant, Nathaniel Willis and Walt Whitman were poets first, but also journalists of no secondary importance, and their influence in local affairs was potent.

The young Walter, who in 1830 had not yet sharpened his name down to paper work on Alden Spooner's Star. At twelve he had learned to set type in Brooklyn, in a building which had been used as Washington's headquarters. That work was for the Star. He had already had the secret thrill of authorship from some "sentimental bits" which had appeared in other papers. Later he became a compositor on various magazines and newspapers in New York. One account has him working on the Tribune, another on the Sun.

His lust for wandering began to show itself in 1836, when he started from his father's farm in Hempstead on a career as itinerant school teacher. He was none too successful at it, but was always well beloved by the children, whom he refused to put to the customary floggings.

The two years of teaching brought him back to newspaper work. He thought it would be more congenial to have a "sheet" of his own, so he started the Long Islander for the village of Huntington. He did every bit of the work entailed in its publishing, even to delivering the papers on horseback; but he did it all too irregularly to suit the subscribers who, having invested their money, were able to replace him with a more punctual, if less inspired, editor.

He had to go back to teaching. But in his spare hours he was learning the newspaper business thoroughly in the office of James J. Beaton's Long Island Democrat. And he was writing many editorials on subjects as sentimental as they were moral.

He was a rampant young reformer. He pleaded for the abolition of intemperance—which included the use of tobacco, coffee and tea—of capital punishment, of slavery. In more constructive mood he advocated the need of dramas, operas and literature for America. He had a press man's pass to the city theaters, and went to the opera as often as could pass the gate-mann. Also, to further the cause of American literature, he was writing a crude dime novel, "Franklin Evans," addressed, in the cause of temperance, not to the critics but to the people.

At the same time he was connected with some of the best city magazines and newspaper as editor, compositor and contributor. Most important was the post he held as editor of the daily and Brooklyn Eagle—a connection which lasted from February, 1846, to January, 1848, when a "row with the boss," on account of Whitman's unreliable temperament, and with "the party," on account of his "barnburner" politics, made him shift for a new job. He found it without much trouble on the Daily Crescent, a paper then about to be started in New Orleans.

Whitman found the south attractive. An account of his trip to New Orleans on a Mississippi River steamboat was reprinted recently by the Yale Review. He soon fell out with his new employers and haughtily resigned. He left for home and had no sooner arrived than he was engaged by Judge Samuel E. Johnson to edit, and nominally to own, the weekly Brooklyn Freeman as the organ of those Democrats with whom Whitman but not the Eagle, had formerly sympathized.

On the first publishing night the Freeman was burned out in a great fire which swept all Brooklyn. The paper was revived two months later. It remained a small but outspoken "sheet", and gained a large enough circulation to change from a weekly to daily a year later, in 1849. But Whitman resigned from it in September of that year, when the paper, he thought, was passing to those who would compromise, as he would not, with his political enemies. His valedictory was:

dictory was:

"To those who have been my friends I take occasion to proffer the warmest thanks of a grateful heart. My enemies—and old bunkers generally—I disdain and defy the same as ever."

Whitman was more poet than journalist thereafter. He went back to vicarious jobs now and then—helped to edit Levi D. Simms's Plebeian and for a while was connected with an advertising paper, the Salesman. He tried to be editor of the Brooklyn Daily Times, but ran afoul of some church matters and resigned. He wrote a serial history, "Brooklyniana," for the then weekly Brooklyn Standard. But his valedictory to journalism already had been made. With its "old bunkers" he was through.

NEITHER COUNTY NOR CITY TAXES REQUIRED ON FAYETTE TOBACCO

Frankfort, Ky., June 11.—Recapitulation sheets sent in by County Tax Commissioners show a diversity of theories about assessments of tobacco stored in warehouses by dealers. This is particularly apparent in the three big tobacco handling counties, Fayette, Jefferson and Daviess.

Jefferson and Daviess assess it as farm products in the hands of others than producers and subject it to city and county as well as State taxes.

Fayette assesses it as raw material in a manufacturing plant although there are no tobacco factories in Lexington and the Court of Appeals in Statements That May Be Investigated. Testimony of Maysville Citizens.

When a Maysville citizen comes to the front, telling his friends and neighbors of his experience, you can rely on his sincerity. The statements of people reading in far away places do not command your confidence. Home endorsement is the kind that backs Down's Kidney Pills. Such testimony is convincing. Investigation proves it true. Below is a statement of a Maysville resident. No stronger proof of merit can be had.

George H. King, prop., grocery 615 E. Second St., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for several years, getting them at Chanslor's Drug Store and I have been greatly benefited by them. Sometimes the kidney secretions have been irregular in passage. I have suffered severely with aches through the small of my back. When I have been in that way, I have used a box or two of Doan's Kidney Pills. They have never failed to cure the attack in quick order."

The duty of the switchboard operator is to answer your number calls and get connections for you.

If she stopped to answer questions, the number of calls would pile up and the service would be delayed; this would be an injustice to the other subscribers.

When in response to a question, the operator says: "I will give you Chief Operator," she is obeying her instruction.

Many Masters

We who serve the nation by providing its meat have many masters.

There are hundreds of thousands of stock raisers, asking for a quick market and a high price for their stock.

There are the millions of consumers looking to us, through tens of thousands of retail dealers, for a constant supply of meat at as low a price as possible per pound.

There are the thousands of wage earners properly eager to earn more.

There are the 25,000 holders of Swift & Company shares—8,000 of them women—who have a right to expect reasonable returns on their investments.

There are the hundreds of competitors, big and little, alert to discover, for their own advantage, any momentary breakdown or lapse in our service.

In all our activities we try to deal on a basis of equity, so that all may benefit and none be injured by the advantages that go with organization, wide scope, and efficient management.

And this service of Swift & Company is performed at a profit of a fraction of a cent per pound.

POWER OF STATE TAX COMMISSION TO BE TESTED

Lyon County Sues to Force Approval of Assessment for 1919—Mandamus Is Asked.

Frankfort, Ky., June 12.—Lyon county, in a petition filed in the name of C. C. Molloy, County Attorney, brought suit in the Franklin Circuit Court for a writ of mandamus to compel the State Tax Commission to approve the work of the Lyon County Board of Supervisors and certify it to the auditor, so that State, county and school taxes can be collected.

This suit will test authority of the State Tax Commission to require realization at the hands of the board. Lyon county was raised $150,000, and the Board of Supervisors mind the increase, raising or lowering, the petition alleges, 460 assessments and passing on increases in the assessments of 280 persons, as reported by the County Tax Commissioner, R. S. Jones.

After the recapitulation had been sent by the board to the State Commission, 125 farm land owners, filed a complaint with the commission, alleging gross inequalities in the assessments, furnished affidavits and displayed a map purporting to show that land of the same character and same locality was assessed from $4 to $40 the acre.

The commission investigated and decided that Lyon county be required equalization. The county judge was notified that the county must be reassessed or the commission would employ a man to do it at the county's expense. This action was followed by the application for a writ of mandamus.

The law says "the commission" shall have power to raise or lower the assessed value of the property in any county, but that it shall not have the power to raise or lower any individual assessment, after the same has been approved by the County Board of Supervisors; and again, "In the event the County Board of Supervisors fails or neglects to carry out the orders of the commission, the commission may itself make a reassessment and equalization."

D. R. Black, J. W. Stinson and Sam G. Gash compose the county board.

Fayette county authorities are watching the outcome of this proceeding. The Fayette board flatly refused to make the raise ordered, and the commission probably will stand pat on its refusal to approve its recapitulation, in which event, unless appeal is made to the courts, taxes will be collected in Fayette until the county authorities act in conformity with the commission's orders.

LAST SCHOOL PROGRAM OF COMMENCEMENT WEEK TONIGHT

Commencement Exercises of the Maysville High School at High School Auditorium—Great Throng Expected to Fill Hall.

Commencement Week in the Maysville public schools comes to a grand climax at the High School Auditorium this evening at 8 o'clock when the Commencement Exercises will be given and when the thirty-five graduates of the Senior Class receive from the hands of the President of the Board of Education their diplomas which through all life will be among their most treasured belongings.

A fine program is arranged and the last word as members of the Senior Class of '19 M. H. S. will be sounded by the Valedictorian of the class.

The address will be by William G. Lavelle, one of the most polished speakers on the American platform. Mr. Lavelle has had a wide career as printers' devil, reporter, editor, Washington Correspondent, lawyer, secret service man and police judge. Mr. Lavelle, although at all times polished and highly cultured, becomes plain Bill Lavelle after he has been before his audience for ten minutes. All of his lectures are of the worth while sort. He deals in no deep mysterious facts but deals with the little things in life which count so very much in the aggregate. Those who fail to hear Bill Lavelle will miss a treat rarely given to the people of this community. Seats have been selling very rapidly and there is every reason to believe that the auditorium will be well filled.

COLORED COMMENCEMENT IS GREAT EVENT

Washington Theater Filled With Friends and Relatives of Graduates—Fine Program Is Carried Out.

The annual Colored High School Commencement was held at the Washington Theater on Wednesday evening and the large theater was well filled with relatives and friends of the graduates and there was also a good sized crowd of white people in the balcony.

The program as previously published was carried out in detail and the musical part of the program was especially interesting. It is well known that in music the colored folks have everything behind them and they certainly demonstrated this fact on Wednesday.

The members of the Senior class gave addresses and read essays which reflected much credit upon the unusually fine and highly cultured faculty of the Maysville Colored schools and many compliments have been passed on the degree of knowledge these graduates displayed in their last school appearance.

MANY EGGS ARE BEING LOST BY OUR FARMERS

Farmers Are Great Losers By Not Killing or Confining Roosters, County Agent Says.

It seems that farmers are paying but little attention to our efforts to get the rooster out of the chicken yard. Rotten eggs are still being brought to market. Eggs from this state are called "Kentucky Junk" by eastern buyers, and are bought on that basis. Local dealers are forced to buy on that basis. Farmers are paid on that basis. Many farmers complain that "an egg is an egg"—big, little, dirty, clean, rotten or fresh, an egg is an egg, and the farmer wants egg prices.

Now listen! Eggs may be eggs, but sometimes they must be used for fertilizer, and the price the eastern dealer pays governs the prices paid in Mason county. If Mason county eggs are not up to standard Mason county prices will not compare favorably with prices paid for better eggs.

It is contrary to the law of Kentucky for a farmer to sell eggs to a storekeeper without candling. It is contrary to law for any storekeeper, dealer, or huckster to buy or sell eggs without candling. It is contrary to law to give or accept payment or eggs unfit or food, and candling is the only way of telling without breaking the shell.

A fertile egg begins to form a chicken within 24 hours after it is laid if the temperature reaches 100 degrees. There will be a blood ring formed which candling shows distinctly. Such eggs are unfit for food, when 36 hours old. Summer heat will start this development, and the state law calls for candling between May 15th and January 15th, in order to protect the consumer.

Mason county farmers can get a premium for their eggs above the regular market if the eggs are worth it. Dealers can handle good eggs on a closer margin, and prefer them on that account. The farmer may "slip one over" on the dealer, but he is the loser in the long run, because the dealer has already made allowance for these tricks, and can tell you this week very closely how many bad eggs he will find in each case next week and will pay for them accordingly.

A dealer handling 100 to 1000 cases per week gave the County Agent the following figures on two lots of eggs, bought at different times.

Lot 1—Number, 3000 dozen; No. 1 eggs, 2349 dozen; No. 2 eggs, 504 dozen; Rots, 99 dozen.

Lot 2—Number, 3120 dozen; No. 1 eggs, 2788 dozen; No. 2 eggs, 229 dozen; Rots, 50 dozen.

Figures do not include broken and cracked.

No. 1 eggs go as "strict fresh". No. 2 show signs of heat, age, dirt or small. Rots need no explanation.

Now a word about size. I saw cases weighing 46 pounds filled. I also saw cases weigh 54 to 56 pounds filled. Can you expect the 46 pound case to sell for as much as the other? Would you give as much for a 60 pound shot as for one weighing 100?

It won't cost the farmer a cent to get rid of the rooster, keep eggs clean and cool. Sell eggs twice a week.

NINE FEDERAL PRISONERS RELEASED FROM LOCAL JAIL

United States Commissioner Bell, of Covington, today ordered the release of nine Federal prisoners held in the Mason county jail on bootlegging charges. All of the prisoners were from the Big Sandy section and had been convicted at Catlettsburg. They were transferred to the Mason county jail when the Catlettsburg jail burned some time ago.

MRS. MARY A. DYE NATIVE OF MASON DIES IN INDIANA

Head of Art Department of Indianapolis Library, Was Native of This County—Death Mourned In City.

The Indianapolis Star of Monday says:

Miss Mary A. Dye, well known to the reading public of Indianapolis and to the club women of the state for her efficient service in the Indianapolis Public Library, died at her home, 1134 Broadway, at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. She was the first of the library attendants to take professional training for her library work.

When Miss Dye's library work ended in 1917 she was head of the art department, which she had built up from a handful of books to a department of several thousand volumes. It was said of her, "Go to Miss Dye if you want service. She does not point to the alcoves and say, 'You'll find what you want there,' but she places the book before you, turns to the page, and points out the paragraph containing the desired information."

She had the special qualities of a mad necessary to successful library work. She knew her books, and could tell what was in them. Her retentive memory sometimes made her mind seem almost encyclopedic. No trouble was too great for her in helping friends to investigate a subject, and it was a frequent thing to find her walking blocks out of her way to carry books to those working along special lines. Her services in the making of programs for art clubs throughout the state were in constant demand and her name became a familiar one in club circles. So devoted was she to her work that it may be said that she put her life into it.

In addition to her library work, Miss Dye was for a dozen years or more secretary and treasurer of the Shakespeare Club organized by the late Dr. Cleveland.

Thoroughness was almost a hereditary quality in all she did, and in running down a subject she pursued it into its ramifications.

Miss Dye was born near Mayslick, Mason County, Kentucky. She was educated in the district schools, at the Mayslick Academy and at the Millersburg Female College. Upon coming to Indianapolis she was graduated from the Indianapolis Normal School and afterward taught in the public schools for a number of years. She left the schools to study library science at Pratt Institute, from which she was graduated preparatory to her entering the Indianapolis Library, where she worked for twenty-three years.

Miss Dye was a sister of the well known Indianapolis attorney, the late John T. Dye. She is survived by her sister, Miss Charley Dye, 1134 Broadway.

Mrs. Mabel Shelton was the guest of here yesterday of her sister, Mrs. Ella Jenkins.
